Checklist for First-time Mall Kiosk Buyers

Make a list of everything your mall kiosk will need, and the amount or quantity. This may involve special arrangements or additional costs. Be sure to include the following:

- Electrical hookups (and the required wattage)
- Gas
- Water systems and drainage
- Garbage/waste disposal
- On-site storage space (including refrigeration for perishable items, secure storage for inventory and equipment, etc.)
- Insurance

___ Contact the local municipal and county governments to learn which laws and regulations apply to you.

___ Contact the local fire department to learn which regulations apply to you.

___ Contact the local health department to learn which regulations apply to you.

___ Read the mall requirements carefully. Find the answers to anything you don't understand. We strongly recommend you consult a lawyer.

___ Make sure the design, dimensions, and appearance of your kiosk will fit the mall's criteria.

___ Find out what the mall's rules are for moving your mall kiosk to a different location.

___ Find out if you must follow special procedures for hiring employees.

___ Don't panic. All this red tape is normal. If it was easy to find personal freedom in your own business, everyone would be doing it.

We can help you. Nakamura-Beeman has been dealing with malls for 25 years. We contact the malls directly with your proposed mall kiosk design, and work with them to ensure all criteria are met.
